NEWSPAPER FOR WOMEN.

London is to have a daily newspaper for women, to be known as the Daily Mirror, which is certainly a felicitous title. It is to be published by Alfred Harmsworth, which makes it certain that it will be conducted with energy and with a regard to the supposed demands of the public. At the same time, the Paris Fronde, noteworthy as entirely the work of women, from writing and editing to composition and printing, has closed its brief but interesting career.

HABIT OF SAVING.

Bank of Hawaii Savings Department
Doing Good Work.

A house to house canvass will be made by representatives of the Savings Department of the Bank of Hawaii. It is hoped to place one of the little auxiliary banks in every house in Honolulu. The possession of one of the little safes is a constant reminder to put away a little money every day and at intervals deposit same with the Bank of Hawaii and then your savings will draw 4 1/2 per cent interest.

Those who have the habit of saving only know how quickly money accumulates. It has been truly said that "a thousand men win competency by quietly saving their money, where one gets rich by speculation."

Secure one of the little banks, take it home and commence to drop a coin in and keep up the practice every day. You will be surprised to know that in a very short time you will have a bunch of money. Take the little safe to the Bank of Hawaii every 30 days or so and have the amount credited in your pass book. The savings department is open on Saturday night between 7 and 8 o'clock for people who cannot get around during regular banking hours.

KEPOIKAI SAID HE WOULD RESIGN

ing of the 19th inst., you evidently intend to make the issue one of veracity between ourselves, and leave it to public opinion.

"For some time I have made it a habit to dictate the substance of important interviews immediately upon their conclusion, while the matter is fresh in my mind and before circumstances change.

"This memorandum shows that my first interview with you was on Oct. 31, and that I asked you point blank if it was satisfactory for you to put in your resignation, and you replied, 'Certainly.' You also said that you knew it was in accordance with American custom and precedent.

"My second interview was on Nov. 2nd, the day before Mr. Baldwin left. Of this I have no memorandum, but you may remember my asking if I could depend on your statement, and your words, as near as I can recollect, were: 'Yes, I'll resign all right, but I am going to pack my trunk for Maui first.' Very truly yours,

(Signed)

"GEORGE R. CARTER."

THE FIGHT AGAINST "RECIPROCITY"

California looks to its entire Congressional delegation not only to vote against the Cuban reciprocity bill, but to fight it tooth and nail until it is beaten forever. For failure in this the people will accept no excuse, no matter if shifty politicians did succeed in preventing our legislature from positively "instructing" our Senators. The stifling of those resolutions of instruction, which had passed the Assembly, was the result of trades in which offices were the consideration, as the people well know. It will not save from public execration any member of our delegation who votes to sacrifice the industries of California on the altar of executive favor. Captain Daniels of the Eighth district is already in Washington and announces his intention to fight. There is no doubt that he will do so and win credit thereby, but it will be a shame if the old members leave him, a new-comer, to bear the chief burden of the contest.

One strong point of vantage from which to assail the adversaries of prosperity will be the danger of insufficient revenue. The enormous Treasury surpluses of recent years have been due to the phenomenal prosperity of the country. It is certain that the aggregate volume of business will not continue to increase as it has been doing, and in some lines of business there is already a falling off. The prodigious number of labor strikes during the last year has seriously impaired the purchasing power of the people. In some industries, like certain branches of the steel trade, American plants have been unable to supply American demands, and there have been large importations paying duty. Such importations will now stop, as there is now no industry behind its orders. That this is no figment of the imagination is shown by the fact that for the first time in years, except in the month of July, there was last month a deficit in our Treasury transactions. That deficit was mainly caused by a falling off in customs receipts of $3,881,738, as compared with those of October, 1902. Customs receipts vary directly with the prosperity of the country. In 1893 they were $203,355,017, while the next year they fell to $131,818,530, and did not again reach the figures of 1890-93 until 1899. It was the deficiency in our customs revenue resulting from the abandonment of protection which reduced the Cleveland administration to the humiliating necessity of issuing bonds to pay current expenses and support the credit of our currency. To remove 25 per cent of the duty on sugar would cut off at least $15,000,000 annually of revenue, and the Treasury cannot spare the money. As times have been it might not be missed, but it would be crazy financing to rely on the continuance of such prosperity. It will be perfectly easy for Congress to produce a large deficit by impairing the protection to American industries. It would be disgraceful for the Republican party to do so. It would be traitorous to California Congressmen to neglect any opportunity to defeat it when such deficit is to be produced by the sacrifice of California industries.—S. F. Chronicle.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Dispatches from Budapest give news of Emperor Francis Joseph's temporary bridging of the widening rift between Austria and Hungary by granting important concessions to the Liberal party of the Magyar section of the dual monarchy. After allowing the country to be in a state of practical anarchy since September 30, the date of the fall of Count Hedavary's Ministry, the leaders in the Hungarian Parliament have at last become reconciled for the nonce and the fractious wheel-horse of that remarkable Hapsburg tandem will swing into the middle of the road for a little while longer. It is all because the old Emperor has perforce decreed that the Hungarian tongue shall be spoken in the military colleges of the eastern kingdom of the dual monarchy instead of German, and that Hungarian officers shall be transferred from Austrian regiments to those of their native country.

The world at large knows very little of the political moil and trouble which has been straining the bands of union between Austria and Hungary since June 8, 1867, the day when Francis Joseph, Emperor of Austria, became King of Hungary. The stormy meetings of the joint houses of both countries have become a byword in the mouth of the nations, but few besides the trained diplomats have troubled themselves to look below the surface and see the fundamental causes of the long continued strife between Teutonic Austria and Slavic Hungary. The bitter quarrel over the seemingly trivial question of whether the officer in charge of a Hungarian regiment shall say "Vorwärts" or its Magyar equivalent is only a straw which points the wind.

The Austro-Hungarian state is manifestly an artificial union. There is a King over both component parts of the empire who by his personality alone has been able to hold together the divergent halves of the dual Government. Tariff and educational questions have been fought out incessantly. The growing influence of the German empire in the Austrian half of the empire has estranged the nobles of Hungary more and more. Hungary feels that the Austrians have been encouraging the revolts of the Croats against her authority. But the primal factor in the spirit of disunion springs from the eternal antipathy of race against race. The unconquered Magyar with the blood of the Tartars still in his veins and stiff with the pride of an ancient succession of Kings, cannot be yoked with the equally proud Austrian, whose house of Hapsburg has ruled since the Crusades.

Napoleon found the spirit of nationality first in downtrodden Spain and he was finally ejected from the peninsula. The reactionary Congress of Vienna tried to weld Belgium and Holland into an artificial state nearly a hundred years ago and their work was undone by revolution. Austria tried later to make herself supreme over an Austrian Italy, but she was turned back by Victor Emmanuel, the Sardinian. So inevitably there must come the severance of the false bonds which tether the one to the other alien nationalities. When death removes Francis Joseph, the personal factor which has kept his inharmonious union intact, Europe may see Hungary resume her position as an independent power.—S. F. Call.

BEST WOMAN RIDER.

The best young woman rider in the world is Miss Lucille Mulhall, who is known in Indian territory as the "queen of the range." She is only 18 years old, but last week she won the $1000 contest prize in a great southwestern contest, roping her third steer in the remarkable time of 40 seconds. Miss Mulhall is said to be as expert in the drawing-room as in the etique of the lariat.

HEAVY RAINS ALL OVER HAWAII

STEAMER MAUNA LOA RETURNED WITH NEWS OF WEATHER ON BIG ISLAND.

The entire island of Hawaii has been experiencing splendid rains the last week. Pursing Conkling of the steamer Mauna Loa which arrived this morning from her regular run to Hawaii and Maui ports, reports on the weather conditions of Hawaii.

At Kau the heaviest fall of rain occurred Saturday and Sunday. In twenty-four hours time 4 inches of rain fell in that section of Hawaii. In Hamakua 4 inches of rain has fallen in a period of four days while in Kona the rainfall has been extensive. The weather has otherwise, been good on the big island.

The Mauna Loa brought a good sized amount of freight with her. She had 4,700 bags of sugar which is being loaded into the bark Andrew Welch.

Pahala mill started grinding day and night last Monday.

COL. CORNWELL'S BODY ARRIVES

REMAINS OF DEAD NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN BROUGHT FROM MAUI ON THE MAUNA LOA.

The remains of the late Colonel W. H. Cornwell arrived this morning on the steamer Mauna Loa from Maui. Accompanying the body were the widow of the deceased and his son W. H. Cornwell, Jr., and Mrs. A. A. Brayner, a daughter of the deceased. Mrs. J. Cornwell, a sister-in-law, also accompanied the body.

The remains were taken to the undertaking parlor this morning and from there will be removed to the Masonic Temple tomorrow afternoon. The Masons will watch at the bier Saturday night and Sunday morning. The Masonic Ritual will be conducted at the Temple Sunday afternoon after which the body will be removed to Central Union church where the funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock.

Honolulu Commandery, No. 1, K. T., will attend the funeral.

WOMAN NEARLY WASHED OVERBOARD

LIFE OF DECK PASSENGERS ON STEAMER KE AU HOU SAVED BY CHIEF ENGINEER GARDNER.

The trip of the steamer Ke Au Hou from Honolulu to Kauai ports this week was one of the most disagreeable in recent years. The vessel ran into a heavy northerly swell with heavy north-northeast winds. She encountered the bad weather shortly after she cleared Kaena Point and got into the Kauai Channel.

So rough was the weather that Captain Tullett had to put his vessel out of her course and run before the sea. One sea after another boarded the vessel. The cabins were flooded. Numerous coils of rope on the hurricane deck were washed loose from the lashings and swept overboard.

For a while the deck passengers were in danger. A Portuguese woman would have been swept overboard but for the bravery of Chief Engineer Gardner. A big sea caught up the woman and swept her toward the rail. The woman would certainly have been washed overboard, Gardner saw her danger and grabbed her. He was washed against the stanchion, his head striking with great force. He was almost knocked unconscious but managed to hold onto the woman and the stanchion until he could get out of danger. The weather was so bad that Captain Tullett took all of the deck passengers into the cabins. The vessel was not damaged by the storm. She arrived this morning from Kauai ports.

DR. LORENZ'S VISIT.

The results of Dr. Lorenz's visit are reviewed in the current number of Charities, a New York publication, by Dr. Newton M. Shaffer, professor of orthopedic surgery in the Cornell University Medical College. Contradictory reports of the outcome of the cases operated on by the Austrian surgeon have been circulating, and Dr. Shaffer's article is important in clearing up the matter. The Lorenz operation for the reduction of a dislocated hip is not new, but goes far back in cases that have not become chronic. But in such cases, where the medical profession only a few years ago regarded a cure as impossible, Dr. Lorenz is an innovator, and his achievements are conceded to mark an era in orthopedic surgery. Dr. Shaffer regards him as a master and without an equal in this particular field of manipulative work. As for the cases operated on by Dr. Lorenz in the United States, so far as can be learned by Dr. Shaffer, all of the patients were benefited by the operation, even where a perfect replacement was not obtained, and in most instances there was entire success. The Lolita Armour case, which brought Dr. Lorenz to the United States, is one put down as not wholly successful. Both of the child's hips were dislocated when Dr. John Ridion of Chicago was originally called into the case. He employed the Lorenz method in all particulars, and succeeded as to the left hip, but the other relapsed, and it was then that the Vienna surgeon was brought over. Dr. Shaffer continues:

It was under these circumstances and after the right hip had relapsed that Dr. Lorenz was called upon. The left hip did not require his services, and the result, so far as that hip is concerned, was apparently satisfactory and has required no attention since. Dr. Lorenz operated upon the relapsed right hip. The result, I am told, is not a perfect reposition—although the limb is performing its functions well. It seems probable that a defective socket or some other obstacle made a perfect recovery impossible.

As the Lorenz method was being successfully used by American surgeons previously, Dr. Shaffer does not regard the visit of the master in this line of work as of importance in revealing a new discovery or introducing to the American medical profession the new method. Its real importance lies in the public attention and interest which the visit aroused concerning the care and treatment of deformed and crippled children. In this respect the visit must prove of lasting and beneficial consequence.

FOR KAPIOLANI HOME.

Mrs. J. M. Dowsett yesterday received from Mrs. S. C. Allen a check for $250 for the Kapiolani Maternity Home. Mrs. Allen writes that she was not here when the subscriptions were taken for the building fund of the home, and she is anxious help along the work. The gift is much appreciated by Mrs. Dowsett and all of the others interested in the work at the Kapiolani Maternity Home.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS BY AUTHORITY

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The President of the United States having appointed Thursday, the 26th day of November, as a day of praise and Thanksgiving to Almighty God, it is our duty as loyal American citizens to join upon that day in thanking God for His goodness to us in the past and in beseeching Him to continue and extend to us His mercies in the future.

While in our early experience with a Republican form of Government we should pray for strength and guidance to wisely, honestly and fearlessly perform the duties of citizenship, and uphold the privileges already accorded to this Territory by the United States of America.

Our rejoicings on this day of Thanksgiving should be accompanied by a sense of grave duty that will enable us to show in the years to come, that the responsibility which has been given us shall not have been misplaced.

NOW THEREFORE, I, George R. Carter, Acting Governor of the Territory of Hawaii, hereby recommend that all our people do, on Thursday, the 26th day of November next, render thanks unto Almighty God in their homes, and at their places of worship, that they cease from all manner of work and toil and make the day one of praise and Thanksgiving.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Seal of the Territory to be affixed.

Done at the Capitol in the City of Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, this 20th day of November in the year of our (Seal) Lord one thousand nine hundred and three, and of the Independence of the United States, the one hundred and twenty-eighth.

GEORGE R. CARTER,
Acting Governor.
